FROM WASHINGTON.

Compromise among the Radicals---Disqualification of Southern Voters until the Presidency is secured---Opposition of the President to the Scheme---Radical Bribery---News about the Presidential Election, &c.

[Correspondence Richmond Examiner.]

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The report from the Joint Committee on Reconstruction, explanatory and vindicatory of their proposed constitutional amendment, will be forthcoming in a few days. It will be chiefly devoted to the purpose of conciliating the support of the radical element, which may yet revolt at the decision against enforced negro suffrage. The plan of the committee was suggested by the Republican members of the New York delegation, and is a compromise among themselves. The Radicals insisted upon the third section, which disqualifies persons who were voluntarily engaged in the "rebellion" from voting for members of Congress or Presidential electors till July 4th, 1870. Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts; who offered a similar plan in the Senate on Friday last, did not include this disqualification, and it is believed that many Republican members disapprove of it, but may still vote for the scheme as a whole. In the discussions which occurred in the committee, it was assumed that the eleven Southern States would not be denied participation in the Federal Government; that it was dangerous to admit them to full participation at once; and that their representation should be curtailed so as to correspond with the number of voters. It was also assumed that it was anti-Republican to give the political power of a State to a minority of its inhabitants, as will be done by disqualifying more than half of the voters, and that, therefore, this disqualification must be temporary—that is, till after the next Presidential election.

The President is very much opposed to the whole scheme, and especially to the third section—disqualifying a large majority of Southern voters, to whom amnesty has been already extended.

Colonel Cooper, a member elect from Tennessee, and now acting as the President's confidential secretary, denounces the scheme in the most open and decided manner. Some of the five or six conservative Republican Senators are also known to be hostile to it. Of course all the Democratic members scout it, but they think it diabolically clever as a party trick. For, whether the project prevail or not, the Republicans keep their party together upon it, and make it a means for preventing the recognition of the lately Confederate States until they shall secure the next Presidential election.

Mr. Stevens and Mr. Fessenden expect to pass the resolution and bills accompanying it by the end of the next week, at least in one House if not in both; for so many speeches have been made on the general subject that members are out of wind as well as of ideas in regard to it. Besides, the party sinews will be applied to force a vote before any defection can occur in their ranks.

One of the bills accompanying the proposed amendment offers a bribe to land holders in the South for supporting the project—a temporary relief from taxation. The President is also flattered with the promise of an early admission of Tennessee representation; but he and some of the Tennessee members elect scorn this bribe.

It has been demonstrated in a late Republican speech in the House, that late Confederate and semi-Confederate States, added to some States about to be Democratic, will, or may carry the next Presidential election. In this view of the matter it is determined, it seems, that the Southern electoral vote shall not be counted at all, unless it be curtailed by the adoption of the proposed constitutional amendment.

KAPPA.

The Reconstruction Plans and the Next Presidential Election---Partisan Fear of the President's Policy---Choosing Southern Presidential Electors---A Crisis at the Counting---Assumptions of the Radicals, &c.

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.]

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The bearing of the new republican project of reconstruction upon the next presidential election will be regarded with much interest by all parties. Should the President's plan of restoration prevail, the eleven Southern States would be represented by loyal men at once, and these States would be in full participation with other States of all rights as members of the Union. But these States, it is contended by the republicans, would, with the aid of one or two semi-rebel States, (as they choose to term them,) and of certain Northern States which are always ready to be demoralized, give a majority of electoral votes for a candidate who would be nominated in opposition to the candidate of the republican party.

Congress will, therefore, persist in measures to defeat this combination. The eleven Southern States are in the Union for some purposes and are acknowledged to be so by two out of three branches of the federal government. These States may, and probably will, choose presidential electors according to the provisions of the existing constitution. When the votes are counted, it will belong to the President pro tem. of the Senate to count such votes as he pleases, and declare the result. He would either act with his party or not. In either way, if the result would be affected by his decision, a political crisis would arise.

IOTA.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 2.

SENATE.—Mr. Williams offered an amendment to the bill reported by the Committee of Fifteen for the admission of the Southern States. It provides that they shall be admitted after the 4th of March, 1867, excepting Tennessee and Arkansas, which shall be admitted immediately on the ratification of the proposed amendment.

Mr. Dixon also offered an amendment which declares that when any of the lately rebellious States shall present themselves, not only in an attitude of loyalty, but represented by men capable of submitting to constitutional tests, they shall be admitted to the rights of representation.

HOUSE.—The House voted on and defeated the Army Bill.

It next considered the bill passed by the Senate for re-organizing the army.

The Matter of Pardons.

The Standard of the 3rd inst., after publishing the list of pardons which we recently stated were in the Executive office here, adds the following remark:

"These pardons, with hundreds and hundreds of others, (if we are not much mistaken,) were granted on the recommendation of Gov. Holden. We state this only because the Sentinel charged Gov. H. with having "opposed" the pardon of certain persons. By the way, how much influence has Gov. Worth at Washington?"—Standard.

We regret that Ex-Gov. Holden has deemed it advisable to make the above point, as a means of damaging Gov. Worth's position in the State. We have no desire to add a feather to the already ponderous load of condemnation which the people of the State and of the country, for his past political sins, have fastened upon the former, by investigating his conduct while Provisional Governor. Nor would we notice the above, but to do justice to Gov. Worth, who has thus been wantonly and unnecessarily assailed by Gov. Holden. The ruse which he played in the late canvass, "vote for Holden and go in, or for Worth and stay out," is sought to be kept up. It was squelched by the people at the election and by the President when he ordered Gov. Holden to give place to Gov. Worth. Ever and anon, however, the Standard has sought to make the impression that Gov. Worth's influence was nothing at Washington, while Gov. Holden's was still transcendent. The littleness of such a course must strike every one. But what are the facts?

There never was a time in the history of the two men, when, if they were both equally well known at Washington, Gov. Worth's influence and position with President Johnson, or with any other unprejudiced man, would not have been immeasurably higher than that of Gov. Holden. The whole demeanor of the President towards Gov. Worth, since he took the Executive chair, has exhibited a proper appreciation of his character, and in nothing more than in the matter of pardons. A gentleman of intelligence and character from this State, and known in Washington, returning home recently from that city, remarked to a friend, that the extent of Gov. Worth's position and influence with the government, as compared with Gov. Holden's, might be estimated as ten to one.

But in order to meet directly the question at issue, we have asked an examination of the official record in the Executive Office, and have obtained the following facts: Up to the present time, the whole number of petitions for pardon which have passed through the Executive Office is 1936. Of these 1896 were filed with Gov. Holden, and 40 since Gov. Worth came into office. If, therefore, the entire number, 32, which we recently published as pardoned, had been upon the recommendation of Gov. Holden, and none upon the recommendation of Gov. Worth more recently forwarded, it would not give the shadow of a shade for the arrogant pretensions which Gov. H. sets up. But the facts are, that two of the 32 names published by us do not appear on the books, they having, no doubt, secured their pardons through other agency than that of either Governor—three of them stood endorsed for suspension by Gov. Holden—six were pardoned upon the recommendation of Gov. Holden, and 21 upon the recommendation of Gov. Worth!

Of the 1896 petitions filed during Gov. Holden's administration, 329, most of which had been filed months before, were found in the office upon Gov. Worth's entrance, unacted upon by Gov. Holden, notwithstanding the number of clerks, aids, &c., he had employed; and most of these were of persons who had filled petty offices, such as country postmasters, tithe collectors, mail contractors, &c., who, perhaps, had sought those offices to keep out of the war, and whose hard fate Gov. Holden has since so often and so piteously deplored! Within a week after Gov. Worth entered upon his office, with no aids and no assistance except his Private Secretary, these 329 petitioners were recommended for pardon, the petitions endorsed, entered on the books and forwarded to the President. How they were disposed of, the public will know in due time, if need be.

The point in the Standard's article has been met, but the subject is not exhausted by a good deal. We shall content ourselves, at present, with propounding to the Standard a question or two. On the 10th October last, the Convention ordained, that "all persons who may have preferred petitions for pardon shall be deemed to have been pardoned, if the fact of being pardoned shall be announced by the Governor, although the pardon may not have been received." This announcement by the Governor entitled such persons to vote in the late election for Governor, members of Congress, &c.

Will the Editor of the Standard turn to its files and state how many names were officially announced, by Gov. Holden, in the Standard of the 31st. of Oct., as having been pardoned, and entitled to vote in that election, and the number of any others thus announced, between that day and the election? Our recollection is that there were some six or seven hundred thus announced, between the 30th. of Oct. and the 9th. of Nov., the day of the election. Let the Standard give the number. It is currently reported, that at that time not one of those persons had been pardoned, and, further, that up to the present time, very few of them have received their pardons, and, in most cases, have obtained them, by special application for them. Will the Standard state how it was that persons, whose pardons had been signed by the President, and forwarded before the election, could not obtain them on personal application at the Executive office in this City, before the election, and not until some time after?

When it suits the Standard to put the Ex-Governor on stilts as to his influence at Washington and upon the matter of pardons, it may make another tilt at Governor Worth, and the archives of the State shall be made to reveal other facts of not less ominous import than the foregoing.

THE TIME HAS BEEN, as we read, when England, at different epochs, was without any representative legislation for years. These were periods when the people, rather than surrender their rights by making degrading and base concessions to power, chose to submit to injustice and wrong. Undesirable, inconvenient, anti-Republican and oppressive as is such a situation of affairs, where the governed and taxed have no voice in the framing of their laws or the imposition of their burthens, it is still liberty,—the freedom, at least, of self respect and of an undishonored conscience,—in comparison with any other condition that can be purchased only by the forfeiture of honor and dignity. If, therefore, it is only by the abnegation of these, and a debasement of all the instincts of manhood, that the people of the South are to be allowed their proper and equal place in the National Legislatnre, we can afford to "bear the ills we have," and remain unrepresented,—"biding our time," which will surely come at last. It cannot be otherwise. There is no teaching of history that a course of continued, persistent cruelty and persecution is allowed to go always unrebuked and unpunished. The guillotine, itself, descended finally upon the necks of its authors.

THE MOST REMARKABLE somersault on record in acrobatic annals is announced in the telegram from Washington, which we published on yesterday, wherein it is stated that Secretary Stanton had expressed his opposition to the report of the Obstruction Committee, and his cordial and final adhesion to the policy of the President. The National Intelligencer, of Wednesday, confirms the telegraphic announcement.

We welcome to the support of the cause of right and justice even so great a sinner as Edwin M. Stanton,—not that we have any faith in the man, but that we regard his accession as a healthy augury. He has heretofore, at all times, instilled an intense venom into every department of administration that he could reach, and when he inclines to mercy, it is surely an indication of something hopeful. Stanton is one of the shrewdest and most cunning politicians in the country, and he deciphers the handwriting on the wall. He foresees the ultimate triumph of the President's policy over the blind and crazy malignants of faction, and accordingly "gets from under" before the torrent shall descend. "While the lamp holds out to burn," &.

THE TEST OATH—HOW IT WORKS.—It is now palpable that competent men to fill the offices of the Federal Government cannot be found in this State, who will accept them and take the test oath. Mr. Marshall Goodloe informed us, on yesterday, that the business of the District Court, at Wilmington, was much retarded for the want of a Deputy, he not being able to find a competent man who wanted the office and who would take the oath.

Judge Brooks, we also learn, finds difficulty in filling the various offices necessary to the organization of his Courts. The Circuit Court convenes here in June, and the Judge, we learn, in the exercise of his far-seeing discrimination, has selected Mr. Mark M. Williams, of this city, as Clerk of the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of North Carolina. We design no reflection upon Mr. Williams, when we regret his misfortune in not having sufficient education to enable him to do the business.—Certainly, to borrow a figure from an old friend to express the idea more fully, Judge Brooks might as well attempt "to make a sharp-shaving razor out of a pewter spoon handle," as a good Clerk out of our old friend Mark. But he needs the pay, and we insist he shall have it, although it is said that another is to do the business, who cannot take the oath. We hope that Mr. Williams will see that there is no whipping the devil round the stump in this matter. He is the Clerk, and he takes the oath, which surely ought to entitle him to all the pay.

IN VINCULIS; OR THE PRISONER OF WAR. BY A VIRGINIA CONFEDERATE, PP. 216, PETERSBURG, VA., 1866.

We are indebted to the author, A. M. Keiley, Esq., the accomplished Editor of the Petersburg Index, for a copy of this sprightly and agreeable volume, giving his experience as a prisoner during a captivity of several months, and interspersed with reminiscences of the late war. It is one of the most readable works we have met in connection with the great struggle, and is a valuable contribution to southern literature.

While the author does not fail, with a generous fairness, to award due credit and honor to all connected with his captivity, who exhibited feelings of mercy and humanity, he lashes, with an unsparing hand, the guilty agents of the many barbarities that were inflicted upon himself and his fellow prisoners. His narrative is apropos to the present day, when it is fashionable to speak only of the horrors of Andersonville and Salisbury.

THE TRUTH WELL TOLD.—There are pens and tongues that are doing incalculable injury to the cause of restoration.—N. C. Standard.

That is so, Mr. Holden, and it is a great pity for the people of North Carolina that the editor of the "Standard" has been so long in arriving at this conclusion.—Weldon State.

Freedmen's Bureau.

During our recent visit to Gates County, we made special inquiry into the condition and behavior of the freedmen, and the operation of the Bureau, &c. We had the satisfaction to learn, that every thing was going on quietly and pleasantly. Labor was much in demand, many of the blacks having left the County before the surrender, and almost every laboring person, colored or white, men, women and children, whose condition required it, were in the fields, hard at it, making corn, cotton, &c. No discord, no collisions, nothing unpleasant had occurred in the section we were in, and the impression was, that the same state of things was general. In that County there is no regular Bureau, no army officer or soldier to enforce the law every one readily acquiescing in the orders of the Commissioner or his Assistants. A citizen of the County was acting as Agent, who simply made known the requirements of the law, and every thing went on without difficulty. We wish Gens. Steadman and Fullerton had been with us, to see the quiet operation of affairs.

By the way, it strikes us that if the plan adopted in Gates County had been general in the State, with Col. Whittlesey and the necessary clerks stationed here, a vast expense, and much trouble might have been saved, with superior benefits resulting.

A Good Hit.

The Richmond Whig, in a notice of the proposition, in Virginia, to call a Convention of the "original Union men" in that State, to organize a party, thus hits off not only the professed "unmistakably loyal men" in Virginia, but in this State:

"What is meant by the words "original Union men?" If they mean all those who were opposed to secession up to the time of the call for seventy-five thousand troops, then we have nothing to say against it; although we see no adequate reason for holding such a Convention at this time. Than the "original Union men" of the State of Virginia, in this sense, there is not a staunchen, more patriotic, intelligent and virtuous class in the State—none in whose hands we would sooner entrust the destinies of this beloved Commonwealth. But if the term "original Union men" is limited to those who throughout the war adhered to those who were then at war with us, secretly doing us all the mischief they could, while they pretended to side with the Confederacy—taking office, or seeking contracts, or deriving other benefits and emoluments therefrom—then we are glad that the Dugald Dalgettys are to meet, because we will then know precisely who they are; but we hope no "original Union" man of the other class will be seen in their company."

THE SENATE of Tennessee has rejected the infamous franchise bill, which had previously passed the other branch of the Legislature. We hail this as a significant indication that the "glorious old patriot's" influence is on the wane.

The Sunday School Excursion.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The excursion of the Sabbath School of the M. E. Church of this City, to Kittrell's, on Thursday, was highly gratifying.

At 6 o'clock, A. M., the officers and pupils of the School assembled at the Church, and marched to the Old Depot, where they found in readiness three fine coaches, in charge of that excellent and polite conductor, Capt. Timberlake, for their reception. A number of others also joined them.

"All-aboard," the whistle screamed, and pleasantly we glided off for the Springs. The forests and farms along the line looked pleasantly to pent-up city boys and girls, and the time passed off rapidly. At Franklinton, a number joined us, and at 10 o'clock we reached Kittrell's depot.

Soon the column was formed and thence marched to the Female Institute, where we found the accomplished President, Rev. Mr. Riddick, and lady, and the teachers and students awaiting our arrival. Mr. R. gave the crowd a hearty welcome in a neat and appropriate speech, which was briefly responded to by Rev. Mr. Curinggim, the Superintendent. Now came the order to break ranks, and the children scattered in every direction to rusticate.

The dinner was spread in the spacious dining room of the Institute, and at the proper hour all gathered at the signal to pay their respects to the burdened tables. Big and little did good execution to it, you may be sure.

Shortly after dinner, the school assembled to hear the address of Master Jos. A. Harris, one of the pupils, with which they were agreeably entertained. The rest of the day was most delightfully spent on the common or about the Institute, promenading, listening to sweet music, executed by members of the Institute, or to the ring of merry laughter made by the juveniles.

All were highly delighted with the trip, the Institute, the Springs, and with themselves, and returned to the city at 6 o'clock, not a little fatigued. Nothing occured during the entire day to mar the pleasure. The little ones hope to live to take many such excursions to Kittrell's.

ONE OF 'EM.

Judge Fowle's Opinion in the Matter of Gee.

We would have noticed the proceedings in this case sooner but for our absence from our post. We think that Judge Fowle has shown a commendable independence in the course which he has taken. The question "what is the legal effect of the President's late peace proclamation" is clearly a judicial one. Like all similar questions—such, for instance, as the construction of an act of Congress—it may be decided by the President for the regulation of his own conduct until it has been adjudicated by the proper tribunal, but his decision does not blind the judges of our Courts, either State or Federal. They are left free, in the absence of any such adjudication by the highest tribunals, to decide for themselves all questions of this kind under the oath which they have taken to support the Constitution of the United States.

Our opinion as to the legal effects of the proclamation in restoring the writ of habeas corpus is well known to our readers. We do not see how the judge could have acted otherwise than as he did. Neither do we see how Gen. Ruger could have acted otherwise under his instructions from the President or Secretary of war. We would be glad to see the question decided by the Supreme Court of the United States, but no such decision can now be had, and consequently every judge is left to decide it for himself when it arises before him, and we are glad to see them have the independence to decide it in accordance with their own honest convictions. Upon the independence of the judiciary in our country now depends, in a great degree, the preservation of our liberty.—Old North State.

GENERAL NEWS.

RIOT IN MEMPHIS.—A riot occurred on the 2nd inst., between the policemen and negro soldiers, growing out of an attempt of the officers to arrest a white man whom the negroes tried to protect. Twenty or thirty policemen assembled and kept up the fight for a couple of hours, with about 150 negroes. One policeman was killed and three wounded. Eight or ten negroes were killed and several wounded. The 16th regular infantry quelled the disturbance.

Rev. Dr. Hamlin, of Constantinople, it is stated, saved hundreds of lives by the following simple preparation, during the terrible raging of the cholera in that city a few years since. In no case did the remedy fail where the disease could be reached in season. It is stated to be no less effective in cholera morbus and ordinary diarrhœa: One part laudanum; one part camphorated spirit; two parts tincture of ginger; two parts capsicum, Dose: one teaspoon full in a wine glass of water. If the case is obstinate, repeat the dose in three or four hours.

The Radicals calculate that their Reconstruction programme secures them in any event the next President. If the Southern States accept it, they will vote Radical. If they do not accept it, Congress, which counts the Presidential ballots, will throw out the vote of the Southern States.

The two European powers which are now eyeing each other with the glare of belligerents, can bring formidable armies into the field. When on a full war-footing the Austrian army consists of 579,000 men. The Prussian army, including the Landwher, or militia, is composed of 566,-150 men.

The French commissioners, appointed to investigate the trichina disease, report that the great noise is made over very small occasion, and say that the few cases of infection are due to the dirty German habit of devouring raw bacon or half-cooked sausages.

KENTUCKY.—A grand convention of the Democrats and Conservatives of Kentucky was to organize at Louisville on the 1st inst. The hotels were greatly crowded on the previous day, by the delegates who had already arrived.

Judge Hook of the Georgia Superior Court has decided that "Greenbacks" are not a legal tender for debts contracted prior to Feb. 25, 1862, the date of the passage of the legal tender act.

RESPONSE TO THE CALL OF THE WINCHESTER LADIES.—Mrs. Paul Ravesies, of Mobile, has collected $1,208, in response to the appeal of the ladies of Winchester, Virginia, for pecuniary aid to collect and suitably reinter the remains of the Confederate soldiers who fell in the vicinity of that city.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY.—In consequence of the scarcity of small change (except counterfeit) in the Southern States, the United States Treasurer will issue, in a few days, nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, to designated depositaries of the Government, in the principal cities of the South. In case this issue is not large enough to meet the requirements, an additional amount will be circulated.

PREPARING FOR HOSTILITIES.—The Roberts Fenians have issued a stirring appeal to the Fenian Sisterhood and "sympathizers" with the cause, to contribute lint bandages, medicines, &c., to the Irish Sanitary Commission, as speedily as possible.

HEALTH OF MR. DAVIS.—A correspondent at Fortress Monroe says that Mr. Davis is very anxious for his trial to come off. His health has perceptibly failed since his incarceration, and it is reported he cannot live the summer through in prison.

The late New York Legislature passed a bill prohibiting all railroads in that State from issuing free passes to any persons other than railroad men, disabled soldiers, and for charitable purposes.

Bulwer, the novelist, in a letter to a gentleman of Boston, says: "I have closed my career as a writer of fiction. I am gloomy and unhappy. I have exhausted the powers of life, chasing pleasure where it is not to be found."

The ladies of Atlanta, Georgia, on the 26th ult., went in procession to the cemetery and decorated the graves of the Confederates with evergreens and flowers. An address was delivered by the Rev. R. Q. Mallard, of the Presbyterian Church.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Commodore Rogers, communicating with the Navy Department, says he was ready to join with the British fleet to prevent the wanton destruction of Valparaiso by the Spaniards, but the British Admiral afterwards chose to throw the responsibility on the British Minister, who declined to act in the premises. So Commodore Rogers declared to the Admiral that he would not stake a step without him. He had, he says, no intention of becoming a cat's paw to draw European chesnuts out of the fire, and then have the powers he served laughing at his singed paws, while they enjoyed the fruits of his temerity.

HEALING SPRINGS,

BATH COUNTY.

This celebrated WATERING PLACE will be opened to visitors on the 1st June next.

It gives the undersigned great pleasure to inform the public that, with liberal expenditures by the proprietors, the attractions for the coming season will be such as to gratify both the invalid and those in search of pleasure.

The principal buildings are extensive and substantial, and, with beautiful cottages, will furnish comfortable accommodations for three hundred visitors—They have all been painted and put in thorough repair, and the Bedding and Furniture in every department is new. The medicinal virtues of the waters are so generally and favorably known that it would be superfluous to enter into an elaborate statement on that subject; their efficacy is attested by numbers, who have found relief at this fountain of health from some of the most distressing maladies to which the human family is subject. For a detailed and particular account of the properties of the waters and their effects, reference is made to a pamphlet to be had on application in person or by letter to Messrs. Purcell, Ladd & Co., Richmond, who will always have a supply of the water for sale.

Complete arrangements have been made for Hot and Cold, Spout and Shower Baths, and Plunge Baths; and, in addition to the mineral waters, an abundant supply of the purest freestone water has been brought from a spring in the mountains, a mile distant, and at an elevation of a thousand feet. Every advantage has been taken of the flow of water to arrange for the comfort of visitors.

These Springs are delightfully situated in Bath county, surrounded by the most beautiful and picturesque scenery, and present altogether attractions at least equal to any place in the mountains of Virginia, occupying a central position in the group of mineral springs for which this portion of Virginia is so justly celebrated.

Three miles from the Hot Springs, eight from the Warm, thirteen from the Bath Alum, and twenty-eight from the Rockbridge Alum, they are of easy access by the Central Railroad and its connections to Milboro' Depot, and thence by stages over a fine turnpike road twenty-three miles to the Springs, passing on the route by the Bath Alum, the Warm and the Hot Springs, and crossing the Warm Spring Mountain. Every part of this route is connected with historical incidents of great interest, and the scenery is of unsurpassed beauty and grandeur.

By the 1st of June there will be a daily mail, and a daily line of stages from Milboro' to the Springs.

The price of Board will be three dollars per day; children and servants in proportion. A deduction of 10 per cent. made on all bills for 30 days or over.

The Agent will spare no pains to render the place a comfortable and agreeable home, and flatters himself, from his long experience and the advantages of the place, that he will be able to give satisfaction.

Trial of Major Jno. H. Gee.

SYNOPSIS OF TESTIMONY.

FORTY-FIRST DAY.

FRIDAY, May 4th, 1866.

W. H. Trott, Rowan county: In fall of 1864, I was employed by Maj. Myers to collect supplies for the commissary department in Salisbury. I began just before the prisoners of war came. My duty was to ascertain what surplus of subsistence there was in the country, and to buy at schedule prices if I could, and if not, to inform the parties that Maj. Myers would impress. I found supplies very scarce. I canvassed the country thoroughly. It was almost impossible to obtain anything. After the tithes had been paid and the amount to soldiers' wives, there was scarcely more left than subsistence for the family. I got no corn or flour. I was employed more particularly to get beef cattle. I tried to get corn and flour to my utmost. There were other agents before me. I was to procure any thing I could in the subsistence line. I was born and raised in Rowan county. The crops in '63 and '64 were inferior in quantity and quality—'64 was worse; it was not more than half a crop. The whole section is a good farming country. I did not raise one-half a crop of wheat; about that of corn. These short crops were caused by the season and the lack of laborers.

Laborers were impressed, in my neighborhood, to work on fortifications and to drive teams. The same amount of land was not planted. I would make contracts and the people would deliver them, themselves, in wagons. They would frequently tell me they were afraid to go, because the r teams would be impressed. They rarely escaped being impressed. An agreement was afterwards made not to impress teams bringing supplies to Major Myers. I was limited to the schedule prices. Towards the last, I was instructed by Myers to pay the market price. Don't know that I got any more supplies by that means.

I went to the tax collector and got the list for the whole county, and got two men, and we served notices of impressment on every farmer. I found the country in great destitution, a great many suffering for subsistence. At Sandy Ridge the condition was very bad. The men were all in the army. I would ride up to a house and find none but women and children.—Men from 17 to 50 years of age were conscripted. At all times I would not get food for myself and horse, in traveling over the country.—I never knew any suffering from want of food in that county before the war. After paying the tithes a good many had to buy provisions to live on. The people told me they had been sending voluntary supplies to Lee's army, and that their supples were nearly exhausted. I went once into Stanly, and, on one occasion, into Iredell county. They were about like Rowan county. I was buying at schedule prices. I think at that time they were same as the market prices. My business as a farmer made me familiar with the market prices. Maj. Myers said I had been recommended to him because I was a judge of such things. He was very anxious to get supplies. He instructed me that the department was in great need, and when I went to Salisbury he would tell me to send them in faster. He said I was not doing my duty; but I was doing all in my power.—There were great complaints from the soldiers because of the shortness of their supplies.

Question:—Did you ever hear them complain of the prisoners being supplied better than they were before? (Objected to, and objection sustained.)

Question:—Do you know of parties who, before the war, had thousands of pounds of surplus meat, only being able to give one or two pieces? (Objected to, and objection sustained.)

Answer:—It was common. I don't suppose I got 1000 pounds of bacon in Rowan county. After a man paid his tithes, the requisition from Myers was for half his surplus, and the other half he could sell to soldiers' families, but not to private citizens. The impressing officer could not take more than one half the surplus. I think the farmer could not reserve any portion of the surplus except upon the condition of selling it to soldiers' families.

Cross Examined.—I canvassed the County in September, October, November and December. Don't know what amount Maj. Myers received. I had nothing to do with collecting tithes.

To Court.—Before the war, the people of Sandy Ridge had enough to subsist on.

Henry Moore.—Salisbury, 35 years old, Cabinet Maker. While the prisoners of war were at Salisbury I was a pattern maker at the Arsenal. Lumber there was so scarce that 6 or 8 mechanics had to stop work several times. All the shells that were loaded were in boxes, those unloaded were not boxed.

I was entitled to double rations. We drew the first of every month. Before the prisoners of war arrived we drew, per month, 15 lbs bacon and 32 lbs of flour. After their arrival we did not get enough to live on. I suppose it was at least one-third less, of both bacon and flour. One time we went as long as two weeks without getting any rations. Our Commissary said Maj. Myers did not have them. The majority had a little something at home that was sent to them. There were several times, three times, at least, when we went 2, 3 or 5 days over our time of drawing. It was about the time of the out break, and a little after that, that the Arsenal men were without rations. Transportation was scarce at the Arsenal, for hauling lumber and shipping shells to the depot.

We got a great deal of our lumber on the Western N. C. Railroad. After the mills were stopped, we put up one of our own, and got a great deal of our lumber from that. We used over 1000 feet in a month, but I can't state the amount. Capt. A. G. Bonizar had charge of the arsenal. It belonged to the ordnance department. I never heard of Maj. Gee having anything to do with it. Have seen a great many teams hauling wood to the prison that I understood were impressed.

At the time of the outbreak, I was working in the shop, heard cannon fire, thought it was thunder. In a few minutes an order came for the guard to fall in, and by the time we had our ammunition and were ready, an order came for us not to go. It was not more than 20 minutes from the time the order came to fall in till we went back to the shop.

You could scarcely buy any provisions at all in Salisbury while the prisoners were there.

I managed to subsist on what I drew and what I could get by working at night. Mine was not an individual case—a good many were situated the same way. There were 30 to 45 employees at the arsenal—mechanics. Can't give the number of laborers, they were negroes, 20 perhaps. Considerable cursing going on about the hard times. They talked about deserting.

Cross-Examined:—It was sometime, a while after the outbreak, that we went without rations. It was in three months.

W. H. Hauser, Salisbury, N. C.—Forty-seven years old. Was detailed as waggon master for Capt. Goodman. Just before prisoners of war came, I think not more than five four and two horse teams. Capt. Goodman made application for more waggon animals. They sent him some, and an order on a gentleman at Statesville. We did not get much till last of October or 1st November. There were 12 or 15 waggons and harness from Greensboro, but not teams sufficient for them. Major Pierce sent him the same quantity of harness—a great urgency for transportation. Several lots of horses were brought there, and he bought some. Can't say the number. Sometimes he may have had as high as 175. In the month of October, we had not more than 12 or 15 waggons. There was one thing or other wanting, hard to get teamsters. In addition we had from four to six two-horse teams. The highest number was twenty-three four-horse teams. The lowest number was eight, ten or 15. In December we had not more than 20, I think. The same amount in January.—Not more than 14 or 15 4-horse teams in February. Six 2-horse teams while the prisoners were there.

An average would'nt have been more than 10 teams in the month of November. In December, I think about 20. In January, about 20.—In February about 15. The teams were very poor and weak. It would take four to haul a cord. Most of them I would have classed as unserviceable if we could have got along without them. We kept about 6 teams for Myers to haul to and from the mills. They were the best we had. The nearest mill was 2 miles. Hartman's was 6 miles. One mill, the most important, was 9 miles off, one 14, and another 18 miles. There were none like the best teams here. The teams would not haul, on an average, more than 1,500 lbs.

The other teams were engaged in hauling wood to the prison and guard, and in moving stores for the Commissary and Hospitals—sometimes four times as much demanded as we could do. In November six teams were turned over to the arsenal. Two teams would not have done the hauling wanted for the distillery. Often demands made that we could not supply—a daily occurrence from all sides. We impressed wagons that came as far as 16 miles. The quartermaster told me to go out and get all the wagons I could find on the streets to haul wood. Most of them agreed to haul for two days. The quartermaster made an agreement with Messrs. Reems & Shaver to haul by contract. Sometimes we got as many teams as could be worked to advantage. The impressing of teams to haul wood continued all winter. In the upper country, teams were impressed all winter to haul the wood to the railroad for the wood-train.

Goodman's order to the wood Sergeant in writing, was to supply the hospitals, the bakery, and the guard on duty first. He said that was required by Maj. Gee. There were other men hauling wood into the prison, who had contracts. Four different persons at one time.—They drew their pay on a certificate of the wood Sergeant. The order meant exclusively the prison hospitals.

Court adjourned.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—A. R. Raven & Co., Hillsboro Street, have fitted up a very nest Ladies' Ice Cream Saloon, where that luxury, together with other "sweets for the sweet," can be obtained at all times.

The 18th. Annual Convention of the Grand Chapter of North Carolina will be held in Wilmington, on the 4th. prox.

Pulliam, Jones & Co., have everything on hand that is useful, necessary or nice.

Towles has another auction, this morning, at 10 o'clock.

We were favored, on yesterday, with a visit from his Honor, Judge BROOKS, and D. R. GOODLOE, Esq., U. S. Marshal for the District of North Carolina.

LADIES' TABLEAUX,—REPETITION.—We are pleased to learn that the Ladies will give another exhibition of Tableaux, at the Chapel of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, on Tuesday night next, the 8th. inst. The proceeds of this entertainment, as of the last, will be devoted to the STONEWALL CEMETERY at Winchester, Va."

The former exhibition was one of the most beautiful displays of the kind that it has been our good fortune to witness. New scenes are now to be presented, and we can promise to all lovers of the beautiful a charming treat. We invoke for the ladies, and for their patriotic and humane design, a proper appreciation at the hands of our citizens. Let them have a rousing house, and let us all seize the occasion, while we minister to our own enjoyment, of aiding the holy work in which they are engaged."

THE CONFEDERATE DEAD.—A meeting of the ladies of Greensboro' is to be held on the 5th., for the purpose of organizing a society to bestow immediate care upon the graves of the brave Confederate dead in that town. This is most commendable, and we shall be glad to see the example imitated in our own City. What say our ladies to holding a similar meeting on the 10th inst.,—the anniversary of the death of JACKSON? There sleep, within the narrow precincts of our City Cemetery, many as gallant heroes as ever fell in any cause,—who, dying, have left to us a legacy of fame of which we may be justly proud. There reposes all that was mortal of such spirits as Pettigrew, Anderson, Branch, McDowell, Jones, Reid, Gully, Singeltary, Husted, Haywood, Bryan, Smedes, and others, the sense of whose loss yet brings a tear to many an eye and loneliness of feeling to many a heart.

The Episcopal Convention of the Diocese of North Carolina is to be held in Newbern, on Wednesday, the 16th inst.,

ATLANTIC & N. C. R. R.—We learn from the Newbern Times, that the Board of Directors of this Road were in session on Monday and Tuesday. It says that the "freight rates, heretofore lower than on any competing line, were still further reduced; a fact which will prove interesting to shippers of produce and merchandise, and which must secure for the road a vast amount of business."

FOR LATEST Washington news and gossip, see first page.

THE CROPS.—The Editor of the Old North State, having just returned from a tour through Davidson and Forsythe Counties, expresses the opinion that more than a half crop of wheat will not in any event be harvested in those Counties this year. In the County of Guilford, and in some of the Western Counties, the prospect is better.

The Fayetteville News publishes the following letter from Ex-President Davis in response to one from the ladies of Fayetteville, enclosing a check for Mrs. Davis:

FORTRESS MONROE, VA.,
22nd. April, 1866.

Mrs. J. K. KYLE, Fayetteville, N. C.:

MY DEAR MADAM: I have the honor to acknowledge yours of the 14th. inst., enclosing a check to be forwarded to Mrs. Davis as a present from the ladies of Fayetteville.

Sadly remembering how your homes were desolated during the war, I could not have expected you, in the midst of the ruin, to have been mindful of the wants of those at a distance. Nothing could add to my admiration for the heroic, self-denying Christian virtues of my countrywomen, for the measure was full to overflowing. Nor could anything increase the gratitude with which I will ever recur to their confidence and sympathy. It only remains to assure you, and the ladies whom you represent, that I am most gratefully and respectfully your friend and ob't. serv't.,

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

THOMASVILLE.—A correspondent of the Greensboro Patriot says that this little town, in Davidson county, on the line of the N. C. R. R., is showing a spirit of great enterprize and industry. He says:

"Here is a fine classical school for boys, and Glenn Anna Female Seminary is showing signs of reaching the days of its former glory under those sainted ladies—Misses Nixon and Branson, who afterwards became Mrs. Burton and Mrs. Moore, but "who now rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

The manufactory of shoes is rallying again; and Messrs. C. M. & G. Lines can fill orders cheaper than the same articles can be bought and shipped from New York.

Messrs. Lambeth & Pegram have just set to running one of the finest Saw-mills in the State, and can furnish bills of lumber on a few days notice, for any building whatsoever."

Four negro men were drowned in the Cape Fear River, near Fayetteville, last week.

A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his ex raordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the [so called] remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in pe fect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disenfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspepic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 41 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

Confession and Death of an Army Chaplain.

M. M. Pomeroy, the editor of the La Crosse (Wis.) Democrat, gives the following death bed scene, which he was called to witness in his recent visit to Chicago:

The Rev. Henry Clannard, an ex-army chaplain who left off expounding the Bible and recruiting for the Saviour, and by indorsing the nigger and abolitionists became an army chaplain in one of the Wisconsin regiments, passed from life to a home beyond a blessed immortality, the other day.

A physician had called on him two or three times a day for a month, doctoring him for an ague brought on while stealing cotton in Arkansas while with Gen. Curtis. On learning that the ex-minister and ex-chaplain would hardly live the night out, we called with the physician.

In a little wooden looking room not over twelve feet square, in an obscure boarding house in Chicago, we found the invalid. The room was bare of furniture except a poor bed, a little dirty washstand, two wood-bottomed chairs, an old trunk, a pine table on which was spread a newspaper on which lay an old bible, a pair of old snuffers, some pill boxes and such stuff. The dying man was propped up in bed, while a faithful negro woman sat on the foot of the bed. As we entered he rallied a little and asked the doctor who he had brought with him. On being told he sank back, closed his eyes—rallied a little and said: "Perhaps it is as well. He might as well know it as any one."

And he proceeded to make his dying statement, which was in these words, as we took them in our memorandum book as the physicians requested;

My name is Henry Clannard; I am 41 years old. I am a Methodist minister—at least I was one. I was once happy and contented, and loved Christ, my Master, with all the zeal a Christian ever had. At last I grew cold in religion, selfish and envious of the good fortunes of others. I wanted to make money and have some fun, so I thought I would be a Republican politician.—I began by preaching politics from the pulpit, and praying for the negro. It paid me in money, but I lost influence at the Throne of Grace. But I did not care for that, if I could only have influence with the Republican party. I forgot Christ and became interested in the negro. I had influence with a few members of my church, and talked politics to them. I was paid by office-seekers to influence Christians.

I found politics paid better than religion, and I worked for the chaplaincy of a regiment and got it. Then I let religion go and went to war. There I wrote letters home denouncing democrats as copperheads. And I stole cotton, and silver ware, and pictures, and books, and dresses for my wife and sisters, and horses and mules for my brothers, and a piano for the Governor who gave me my commission, and a gold watch for my captain, and a lot of household furniture for my colonel. And I robbed the soldiers of stuff sent down to them to use while in hospital, and I had my share of goods stolen from the Sanitary fairs and made lots of money.

But I was not happy. I drank whiskey with the boys when away from home, and indulged in excesses not worth mentioning, and laid up quite a pile of money. And I was taken sick while out stealing cotton from a plantation where a widow lady lived. I had coaxed her niggers to run away, and they are all dead now. When the war was ended I came home to Wisconsin, but could not stay there. So I came to Chicago. And I have got to die. I have called on Christ—I have prayed to God, but somehow I cannot get relief for my soul. The door of mercy seems shut against me. I forsook religion for politics, and now God has forsaken me. I pray to my Saviour, but he don't hear me. I talk to this faithful negro woman—she says, "Yes, massa!" and that is all I can get out of her. I know I can't live long. I feel that I am dying. I feel certain that I am going to hell. I want these things written down as a warning to others who forget Christ for politics. I feel that the negro cant save—that Christ won't save me. I was untaithful to my religion and am forgotten. I was faithful to the negro; but, alas! the negro can't help me where I want help; he can't ease my guilty soul. I am going to hell, and I know it. I expect to meet many persons there who forgot religion for politics. I do not expect to see you again in this world or the next, but I want this confession printed.

And thus died the Rev. Henry Clannard!

WHAT WE HAVE SUFFERED.—Capt. M. F. Maury has written a three-column letter to the London Morning Herald, in which he gives the following estimate of the losses of the South caused by the war:

"I estimate the amount of the pecuniary losses incurred by the people of the Southern Confederacy, in their late attempt at independence, to be not less than 7,000,000,000 (seven thousand millions of dollars) viz:

By emancipation,	$3,000,000,000
Expenses of the war	2,000,000,000
Destruction of private property,	1,000,000,000
Additional taxation imposed by the victor for payment of Federal war debt, say $10,000,000 per annum, equal to six per cent. interest on,	1,000,000,000
Total,	$7,000,000,000

This loss falls upon less than eight millions of whites, who have, moreover, in addition, to contribute largely towards the support of the four millions of blacks who have been suddenly turned loose among them, and who, for the present at least, are incapable of caring for themselves.

This $7,000,000,000 of money was the accumulated wealth of centuries; it constituted nearly the whole industrial plant and capital of the South."

During the performance of Friday night last, in the Theatre at Richmond, quite an incident occurred. Mr. James A. Herne, a talented member of the troupe, recited the poem of "Shamus O'Brien, the Bold Boy of Glengall," by Lever.

Just after the war in the year '98

"An' all held their breath in the silence of dhread,
An' Shamus O'Brien made answer and said,
'My Lords, if you ask me, if in my lifetime
I thought any treason, or did any crime
That should cad to my check, as I stand alone here,
The hot blush of shame or the coldness of fear
Though I stood by the grave to receive my death-blow,
Before God and the World, spake! an wer you No!'

These lines were so applicable to the condition of things that followed upon the drama of the late war, that the effect was like an electric shock. Then there arose a storm of applause that made the building tremble; then it died, but rose in mightier effort, that it seemed as if it never would subside. Encore followed encore, and at last, after much effort, the recitation was allowed to proceed.—Richmond Examiner.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B, except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp required thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whose use it is made may stamp it before it is used; but in no case can it be legally used without a stamp; and if issued after the 30th of June, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot be afterwards effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument to appropriately stamp it renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars.

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than writ, viz: summons, warrant, publication, petition, &c., in which cases these, as the original processes, severally require stamps.

Writs of scire facias are subject to stamp duty as original processes.

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the Peace, Notary Public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits or legal proceedings.

Certificates of loan, in which there shall appear any written or printed evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand, or at a time designated, are subject to stamp duty as "Promissory Notes."

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same stamp duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say, for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof, of the amount secured by the mortgage at the time of its assignment, there must be fixed a stamp or stamps denoting a duty of fifty cents.

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamp to which the instrument is liable under the law may be affixed and canceled by any one of the parties.

In conveyances of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on any warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required; and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rate required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case, a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.

Commission Business,

To the sale of Cotton, Naval Stores, Tobacco, Lumber Staves, Shingles, Corn, and all kinds of Produce and Merchandise, and also to the sale and purchase of Real Estate and State and other Stocks, we will give our personal attention.

We are Agents for Murry's North Carolina Semi Weekly Line of Steamships, between Newbern and New York, and for Sailing Vessels for Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other ports in the United States and for different ports in the West Indies. Thus it will be seen that we are furnished by our own vessels with the amplest facilities for the speedy transportation of Freight and Passengers. But in addition to these, there is a weekly line of Ocean Steamships on the same route, and a tri-weekly line of Steamers by inland route through Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal to Norfolk, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York; hence Merchants and Shippers entrusting the transportation of their freight to us, can rely with confidence on its speedy transit.

☞ We will make liberal advances on consignments.

All letters addressed to us on the subject of freight, or on any other business, will be promptly answered.
